DEPARTMENT B YOUTH DEPARTMENT

Programs in agriculture and natural resources, 4-H youth development, family and consumer sciences, and resource development. University of Tennessee Institute of Agriculture, U.S. Department of Agriculture and county governments cooperating. UT Extension provides equal opportunities in programs and employment.

Only members of 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, or Future Homemakers of America in Claiborne County may enter in this department.

THE 4-H CLUBS OF CLAIBORNE COUNTY

SLOGAN: "LEARN BY DOING"

MOTTO: "TO MAKE THE BEST BETTER"

There are approximately 2000 boys and girls enrolled in 4-H club work in Claiborne County. The work is guided by personnel of the local county Extension office and under the supervision of UT Extension, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee.

4-H is an informal, practical, learning-by-doing educational program for youth. It helps them establish real-life goals and become competent, productive citizens. And they have fun in the process! In 4-H, young people learn about and solve problems facing them and their community. The knowledge and skills they acquire in 4-H can open the door to a lifetime of personal growth.

4-H is for youth-rural and urban - from all racial, cultural, economic, and social backgrounds. It reaches girls and boys as members of 4-H clubs, in special-interest groups in short-term projects. It reaches them through television, camping, and in programs planned to meet their specific needs in communities where they live.

4-H involves young people everywhere - in big cities and little towns, in the country and in the suburbs, or Indian reservations, and in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, and Guam. They meet in the homes of members or their leaders, in schools, or in other community buildings. 4-H is found wherever professional Extension personnel and volunteer leaders are available to conduct the program. Youth organizations in more than 90 countries around the world have adopted the 4-H idea.

There are 25 projects members may choose to work with, projects such as Beef, dairy, citizenship, electric, companion animal, computers & technology, consumer education/economics, engineering/safety science, entomology, environmental science/conservation (forestry, wildlife & fisheries), food science, goat, horse, horticulture/garden, leadership/personal development, line and design, nutrition, health and fitness, performing arts/recreation, photography, plant science, poultry, sheep, swine, and veterinary science. An important task for every club member is to recognize and select top quality products for exhibit at the fair. Although the exhibition of such products is important, of equal or greater importance are methods of practices used in producing these items for exhibit. To promote the general program of 4-H in this county and to encourage the improvement of quality of products exhibited, the Claiborne County Fair has established a department open only to bona fide members of 4-H, FFA, FHA, and is offering liberal prizes to winning entries.
